Reasons Why All Should Use the Reactionary Health Lift.
every man or woman in every walk of life. It furnishes an exercise which may, and should be introduced into every house; which may be practiced at all seasons, in all kinds of weather, by persons of both sexes, all ages or degrees of strength or weakness, alone or in company. No one can say too much in praise of it, and no one can afford to do without it. All who investigate thoroughly, use it, and consider it invaluable and indispensable. It is the safest, simplest, cheapest and most efficient medicine ever discovered. No claim is set up for it which is unscientific or impracticable.
General.—It is the best of rest. It is perfectly safe. No harm ever came from its use. It strains no portion of the system. It directs the vital forces to the affected parts. By its use the health is easily maintained. The purchase of a Reactionary Lifter is the best kind of economy. The convenience of having one in the house is very great.
Mind and Brain.—It invigorates and strengthens the brain, and renders it more active and efficient in all its operations.
Sleep.—It is the simplest and safest narcotic. It is the most natural and probably the best means of inducing sound and refreshing sleep.
Nerves.—It is a wonderful tonic to the whole nervous system. It is a most efficacious remedy in paralysis, if taken in time.
Lungs, Throat and Voice.—It gives special expansion and greater mobility to the chest; enlarges the lungs; increases the volume of respiration, and brings the voice more fully under control. As a preventive and cure of lung diseases it has no equal.
Exercise.—It is the most perfect exercise for man or woman, furnishing the best form of physical culture and development in the safest, easiest, most thorough and expeditious manner. It is better than the gymnasium, and free from its dangers; cheaper than the saddle; less laborious than boating and infinitely better than drugs in a majority of chronic diseases. It rounds and hardens the muscles, and educates them into ever ready, faithful and efficient servants of the will.

SKILLFUL SURGERY!
Removal of Urinary Calculi by the Knife.
A LUCKY MAN.
Mr. Simeon Tietsell, of Saugerties, N. Y., had been treated for seven years by various physicians for what they call Stricture of the Urethra, without benefit. He finally consulted Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., who found his trouble to be Urinary Calculi or Stones in the Bladder. The Doctor at once removed the foreign bodies with the knife and then gave his great Blood Specific, "Favorite Remedy," to prevent their reformation. The entire treatment was eminently successful, and Mr. Tietsell's recovery was rapid and perfect.
While "Favorite Remedy" is a specific in all Kidney and Bladder diseases it is equally valuable in cases of Bilious Disorders, Constipation of the Bowels, and all the class of ills apparently inseparable from the constitutions of women. Try it. Your druggist has it, and its cost is only one dollar a bottle. The lucky man is he who puts this advice in practice. Don't forget the name and address, Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. The Doctor would have it understood that, while he is engaged in the introduction of his medicine, "Favorite Remedy," he still continues the practice of his profession, but confines himself exclusively to Office practice. He treats all diseases of a chronic character, and performs all the minor and capital operations of surgery.

AN ARGUMENT THAT WEIGHS A TON.

Here is a Republican campaign document in a nutshell, that weighs a ton:

Under Republican administration during fifteen years of peace, $842,680,876 of the principal of the National debt has been paid, while the current annual interest is $70,000,000 less than at the close of the war. The Democratic press and stump speakers might as well try to tunnel through the Rocky Mountains with a hair-pin, as to break the force of this magnificent showing.

WHY THE SOUTH IS SOLID FOR HANCOCK.

Consider what Lee and Jackson would do were they alive. These are the same principles for which they fought for four years. Remember the men who poured forth their life blood on Virginia's soil, and do not abandon them now. Remember that upon your vote depends the success of the Democratic ticket.—WADE HAMPTON, AT THE MEETING IN THE INTEREST OF DEMOCRATIC HARMONY IN VIRGINIA, AT STAUNTON, JULY 26.

I will tell you who I think the Republicans should nominate, and who I consider their strongest man; he is a true man, a man of principle, an honest man, and would make a good President, for us all. Personally, I consider him the best man you could nominate. I refer to Gen. James A. Garfield, of Ohio.—THOMAS A. HENDRICKS, DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR VICE PRESIDENT IN 1876

MEANING OF A DEMOCRATIC RESTORATION.

We would like to engrave a prophecy on stone to be read of generations in the future. The negro in these States will be slave again or cease to be. His sole refuge from extinction will be in slavery to the white man.—MERIDIAN (MISS.) MERCURY.

SOLON CHASE ON F ION.

The old Bourbons have visions of Hancock and glory—that is, a pull at the public teat, and they have agreed with a few trading Greenbackers to divide the custom houses and post-offices. That is the end and beginning of fusion in Maine. If that nest of eggs does hatch out, it will be a nondescript breed

Assuming the Burden of the Mis count.

Last week was a good one for the Tabulators. Gov. Garcelon who was unmercifully kicked by the New York Democracy last winter, was received back into the fold and figured in the Democratic journals of the metropolis along with Smith Weed and Tilden as an approved Democratic statesman; John B. Foster was called upon at a Democratic love feast to respond to a toast to "a free ballot and an honest count;" Fogg discovered that he had been vindicated by the Democrats of the Second District; and Capt. Chase smiled gleefully as he read on one of the transparencies carried in the Democratic procession of Saturday night, "The Governor and Council of 1879 sustained (by the people) Sept. 13, 1880." To all these men last week was a season of rejoicing and the secret of their joy lay in the fact that the "Union" party of Maine and the Democratic party of New York, had made themselves partakers in the crimes which were perpetrated in the Council chamber at Augusta last winter. They had certainly good reason to feel gratified. Their vindication was not left simply as an inference from the result of the election. They were distinctly assured by the men who voted and the men who managed the conflict that a part of their purpose was to give them the vindication which they sought and which they now claim.

The time has now arrived when Cap'n Chase and Mr. Fogg can safely consign their bundles of letters to the flames. They are not necessary to show that the leaders of the Democratic party approved of the proceedings of Garcelon and his council at Augusta last winter. The public acts of the leaders themselves during the past week have furnished all the evidence needed in that direction. The Democratic party and the Greenback party of Maine have availed themselves of the first opportunity to claim a share in the misdeeds of last winter and to relieve the Tabulators of a portion of their burden. Like the fellow who had the itch and was proud of it these two parties seem proud to share in the iniquity and are flaunting the evidence of their degradation in the faces of everybody. This is well. Disgraceful as the spectacle may be to the State of Maine it will serve a good purpose in teaching the country that the Northern Democracy and its allies are in full sympathy with their Southern brethren in the business of nullifying the will of the people by false and fraudulent counts and that with Hancock in the Presidential chair the country may bid good bye to free and fair elections.

Let the "Unionists," as they delight to call themselves, go on as they have begun. Let them keep inscribed on their banners allegiance to the men who sought to nullify the will of the people by perjury and forgery, let their orators continue to glorify these men. The more light turned on to the Democratic party the more certain is its defeat. Its chances of success lay in the concealment of its character. Fortunately for the country partial success in Maine has made it reckless.

THE letter published a few days ago is not the only one Gen. Hancock has written on rebel claims. He wrote one a short time before to Mr. W. C. Neff of Cincinnati. For some reason it was suppressed. That letter might be interesting reading.

THE joint debate between Porter and Landers, the rival candidates for Governor in Indiana, does not seem to have gratified the Democrats much. The New Albany Ledger-Standard, a Democratic paper, says of it: "Every Democrat who heard any of the debates felt sorry for his party. Landers is no sort of a match for Porter in debate. Porter made the wrong side seem the better, while Landers butchered the king's English; aimlessly wandered and floundered about, and ruined a good cause, made himself a laughing stock, and humiliated those who attempted to bolster him up to save the Democratic banner from trailing in the dust. Let us hear no more of the silly brag and bluster about Landers desiring thirteen more debates with Porter. He has had thirteen too many for his own good and entirely too many to please Democrats."

GOV. GARCELON and his tabulators decided that errors in spelling or in initials of candidates' names were fatal defects which could not be corrected by the record or by oral testimony. By virtue of this rule they counted out a number of Republicans. This year there are fifteen hundred or more votes which were probably thrown for Harris M. Plaisted, returned for Plaisteds of various names other than Harris M. Does the Boston Post which professes to believe in the constitutionality and impartiality of the rules laid down by Gov. Garcelon's Council think Harris M. Plaisted should have the benefit of these votes and be declared elected or does it think he should be deprived of them and thereby Daniel F. Davis be declared Governor?

FOGG has been wrestling with his defeat in the Second District and is now able to prove that he is, on the whole the best vindicated tabulator in the lot. This is the process by which he arrives at the conclusion.

The majority in the Fourth District was 2,836. Ladd is elected by 800. His loss is 2,026 to 1,600 of Fogg's. The Fifth District had a majority against the Republicans two years ago of 3,619. March is elected by 1000 majority. His loss is 2,619 to 1,600 of Fogg's. The combined opposition expected to lose some of its real strength by uniting, as there are many stiff-backed voters in both parties who opposed it. But no man lost so little as Mr. Fogg, who was on Gov. Garcelon's Council. The Chronicle claims in the unexpectedly large vote received by Mr. Fogg, the most emphatic endorsement of the late Governor and Council.

CONGRESSMAN AIKEN of South Carolina is promising the voters of his district that in case Hancock is elected they will be relieved of the tax on whisky and tobacco. At the same time he assures them that a tariff on imports is a robbery of the farmer for the benefit of manufacturers. Where the revenue of the government is to come from he does not inform his hearers, but as he denounces the bonded debt as the work of radical robbers and camp-followers, he leaves the inference it is to be disposed of as has the "radical" debt of his own State. It is one of the things to be "wiped out."

A TELEGRAM from Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, to the Philadelphia Press says: "The Democrats made a great boast of 'floppers' as officers of their meeting on Saturday night. To-day many of the alleged floppers are hastening as fast as possible to indignantly repudiate the claim that they have flopped. Others of the list have been Democrats all their lives. In all the list there is not one who has a straight Republican record who has not already repudiated the Democratic claim of a flop."

THE Richmond (Va.) State thinks the news from Maine is not without its drawbacks, and inclines to the opinion that it would rather have recorded the usual defeat than owe a triumph to allies so obnoxious to all correct principles of finance. It adds: "Right here we must enter our protest against the continuance of these 'dalliances' with this played-out Greenback faction in Maine or any other State, North or South."

THE Indianapolis Greenbackers and members of the State central and local committees are indignant at the action of their brethren in Maine in selecting a Fusion electoral ticket. These people are in sympathy with General Weaver, who has consistently opposed Fusions of all kinds. They see in the coalition the beginning of a fatal split in their party, and denounce it with heartiness as an imprudent step to take at this time.

THE "cheekiest" thing yet is Mr. Hughes' repudiation of his Presidential candidate, Gen. Weaver, because he will not hand over the Greenback party to Gen. Hancock. That, if possible, is "cheekier" than the Democratic attempt to show that Missouri and Kentucky and Maryland put down the rebellion.

THE Democratic and Greenback papers which have so much to say about Republican bulldozing can now turn their batteries upon Mr. C. S. Conant, who tried to intimidate Solon Chase and failed.

BILLS for the payment of rebel claims have been presented by seventy Democratic Congressmen. Yet Gen. Hancock speaks of these claims lightly as a "bugbear."

ANOTHER evidence that the "melancholy days have come, the saddest of the year," is the fact that John Todd has begun to write open letters.

BARNUM has been playing the still hunt game in Ohio. He has been discovered and the game is up.

"LET Kentucky do her duty and there is no fear of Indiana," remarks a Democratic organ in the former State.

A Partial List of Democratic Defaulters.

The Democratic orator, organ and platform, deal in wholesale assertion that Republican officials are corrupt and rob the government of its revenues as defaulters. They fail however to sustain their assertions by facts and figures. It has been some years since the Democrats were in full power, but the following cases of defaulters have been picked out from 1830 to 1861, chiefly of Democratic origin:

S. V. Fowler, Postmaster at New York, 1853 to 1860, $170,947; David Swartwout, Collector, New York, 1826 to 1838, $1,205,030; Jesse Hoyt, Collector, New York, 1838 to 1841, $248,871; T. G. Morgan, Collector, New Orleans, 1841 to 1843, $212,232; B. C. Letter From France.

Sarah Bernhardt.

NANTES, Sept 10, 1880.

Sarah Bernhardt has just quit this old Breton capital, which she more easily took by storm than Cæsar, Charlemagne, the Normans, the French or any other adventurous spirits that by turns attempted its conquest. Having made the preliminary capture of England and Denmark, where Magnus, the German ambassador great as he is, will long and ruefully remember his ill-starred encounter with the sharp-tongued madcap, she is now making the tour of provincial France preparatory to her intended expedition in search of the dollars of the Yankees, which are in great repute in all Europe by reason of the extreme facility with which they are said to be transferred to foreign pockets. And she will get them—O be sure of that—she will get them, those dollars! She is lean, as you have already heard some odd thousand times, but she is mighty in her leanness, which may well be legendary. The late unlamented Monsieur Bluebeard, who was once Duke of this same Brittany, would never in his character of a somewhat gross and sensual personage have added her to his collection of wives. Lean! why no reputable Parisian newspaper (by courtesy so-called), can afford to let a day go by without insisting on the fact with more or less amplification. Half of your vast country, my dear fellow citizens, might be swallowed up in some dreadful cataclysm, and the event might pass without the least notice in the world, but the Figaro itself dare not omit to remind its readers that Miss Bernhardt (Madame Bernhardt they will have it here in spite of any legitimate claim to that matronly title) is very frail—physically. Let me give you one or two specimens of the paragraphs to which the greatest events of politics, commerce or war must give way:

"Two Parisian swells meet on the Boulevards. The first says to his friend:

'To-day an empty carriage drew up in front of the Grand Opera, and who do you suppose sprang out of it?'

The friend gives it up.

'Sarah Bernhardt!'"

"One of our most distinguished physicians has recently devoted himself to the investigation of the singular appearance of a tape-worm which in spite of all preventive measures had become frightfully attenuated. Thanks to the doctor's intelligent researches it has been discovered that the patient had swallowed Sarah Bernhardt."

"A young officer was recently strolling along the rue de Rivoli, accompanied by a very distinguished actrice of the French Theatre, when by some accident his sword fell to the pavement, and he at the same moment became aware of the disappearance of his companion. She had leaped into the empty scabbard!"

And there is a cut in the Charivari representing the dame in question calmly walking across the English Channel on her way to London. Being too light to sink, she could easily save her passage money.

The American is acknowledged to be past-master in the art of humorous exaggeration, but French wit has so long and so fiercely exercised itself on this particular theme that the American funny paragraph man will for once be embarrassed to excel the extravagance of his Gallic brother.

Let us admit then, for the sake of the argument, that there is no marked physical redundancy in your coming visitor. Fresh from her representation of Frou-Frou and Adrienne Lecouvreur, I can affirm as I could when I saw her on "her native heath"—the stage of the French Theatre in Paris,—that she is admirable as a dramatic artist. And the strange feature of the case is that, as it seems to me, her pre-eminent merits are essentially physical.

Her grace of motion and pose is simply miraculous.

Her voice is music itself.

Distinguished sculptor, and painter of no inconsiderable merit, she makes these arts contribute most usefully to success on the stage. How could she, but for her knowledge of the plastic art, imagine those attitudes of which the sculptural grace so excites the enthusiasm of the spectator? She turns her very disadvantages to account and makes them, too, heighten the classic dignity of her pose. As a painter she is acquainted with the management of colors, and thus she discovers how to draw the utmost effect from her costumes. The milliner is here an important auxiliary, no doubt, but not, if I may say so, the upholsterer. No, the frail, almost diaphanous form,—a "demd form" in a word—remains wholly undissembled; only is it illuminated by the flame that burns so brightly within. For she has unquestionably large intellectual powers, too, and throws into the performance of her roles a passion that is at once intense and yet kept within the bounds of artistic propriety. In this respect, however, as well as in the correct interpretation and just representation of her parts she is not perhaps superior to several artists on the American or English stage. But, considering all her extraordinary merits, she is not, as she herself remarked in resigning her position in the Théâtre Français, the first comer.

FRENCH PLAYS AND FRENCH ACTORS have for several years, under the special encouragement of the Prince of Wales, who loves them well, been making their way rapidly in England. No longer content with translating and adapting the most successful French pieces for the London stage, the austere Britons have so far conquered their old-time prudery that they now import bodily every year companies from the Parisian theatres, great and small, and complacently debauch themselves with the erotic incidents and recitals which form the staple of so large a number of modern French dramas. "Shocking!" has disappeared from the British vocabulary but has been carefully revived and preserved in the French, where it serves as a summary indication of an English woman, presumed to be over-modest. The only alleviation is that for the honest Cockneys the crudity of the thought and expression is somewhat hidden "in the decent obscurity of a foreign tongue," which they understand but imperfectly. But they conscientiously follow the representation with the aid of the printed brochure and so succeed in comprehending all the naughtiness of the original.

Now comes the turn of America, which has already tasted the sweets of French opera bouffe, of Offenbach's music and of Tostée's and Aimée's—hum—dramatic genius. It would matter little if it were question only of the representation by native artists of the pieces which hitherto have generally served for the entertainment of the public in reputable Parisian theatres. It is hardly to be feared that Sarah Bernhardt with the repertory of the Théâtre Français will seriously damage American morals. Though it has often been said that the French language lends itself more easily than any other to the suggestion of immoral ideas without offending the ear or alarming natural modesty,

SHERMAN ANSWERS BAYARD.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The Republicans of Hyattsville, Maryland, and vicinity, held a meeting Saturday afternoon and evening, to which a number of gentleman of prominence from Washington were invited as speakers. Among them was Secretary Sherman whose speech was the event of the day, and was especially interesting, inasmuch as it contained a very complete refutation of the claim set up by Senator Bayard, in his recent speeches, that to the Democratic party is due a portion of the credit attaching to the resumption of specie payments. Upon this subject Mr. Sherman said:

The first act of the Republican party was during the administration of Gen. Grant. It was the act to strengthen the public credit. In that act was this clause:

"And the United States also pledges its faith to make provision at the earliest practicable period for the redemption of United States notes in coin."

This was purely a Republican measure. It was adopted after the gravest consideration by the great body of Republicans in both houses of Congress, and was opposed by the Democratic party. Every Democrat voted against it with Mr. Bayard at the head of the list. The next step in the development of this policy was the act of July 24, 1870, for the refunding of the public debt. It is under this act that the great reduction of interest in the public debt has been made by the reduction of the rate of interest on bonds from 6 to 4 per cent. This act was also a material aid to resumption in providing the means for the accumulation of coin. It was adopted by the vote of nine-tenths of the Republicans and opposed by nearly every Democrat, Mr. Bayard again heading the opposition.

After the financial panic of 1873, public opinion in this country in both political parties was greatly agitated, and visionary schemes were discussed and proposed, the Democratic members of both houses of Congress taking the lead in favor of measures of inflation. It was at this time that Secretary Richardson issued $26,000,000 in United States notes, as I think, in violation of law, but it was condoned and palliated by public opinion on account of the pressing emergencies of the times. From that time until January, 1875, no definite policy was or could be adopted to bring about the resumption of specie payments. Mr. Bayard and a few Democrats were professedly in favor of resumption, while four-fifths of his party associates were bitterly opposed to every measure tending to that result, and I am sorry to say that some Republican Senators and members, influenced by the hardness of the times, indulged in and supported schemes of inflation. But the body of the Republican party remained true and firm to the pledge made in 1869. In December, 1874, the Republican Senators, feeling that upon them rested the responsibility, and that they could not hope to have any practical aid from Democratic quarters, resolved to take effective measures to bring about resumption. They met in conference, or, if you please, in caucus, and there, after full deliberation, took their stand in favor of resumption and directed the preparation of the Resumption act. It was prepared by a committee of nine Republican Senators.

It was submitted to a Republican caucus, and was there adopted. It was not in all respects the best and most direct measure for resumption, but it was the best that in the then state of public opinion could be adopted even among the Republicans. It was known that it would meet the united and determined opposition of the Democratic party, for although a few men like Mr. Bayard professed to be in favor of resumption, and would talk in favor of it, yet it was perfectly well known that party bias and party discipline would prevent them voting for any measures proposed or supported by the Republican party. It was reported to the Senate by the Republican members of the committee on finance, of which I was chairman, and opposed by every Democratic member, Senator Bayard among the others. It was debated in the Senate not to any great extent, but introduced as the deliberate and determined result of Republican policy, and as such it was passed by both houses by a triumphant majority, and was approved by President Grant.

In the Senate, not a single Democrat voted for the bill, but it was voted for by every Republican Senator who voted. Mr. Bayard was present in his seat, but did not vote. Mr. Bayard says he proposed an amendment to the Resumption act to destroy the United States notes when presented for redemption, or, in other words, to retire the entire volume and prohibit their reissue. He did make such a proposition, with the distinct knowledge that if adopted it would defeat the bill, and this no doubt he would confess. The large body of the Republican Senators, while in favor of resumption, still wished to maintain in circulation a limited amount of United States notes. They did not bear interest and to the extent that they could be maintained at par it was right and proper that the government should have the benefit of this saving. But he says it was a "juggling measure" open to two constructions. He said so then and he says so now. But the actual events show that what he calls a "juggling measure" has proved the most successful measure adopted in our times. Without it resumption would have been impossible, and if his amendment had been adopted he probably would not have voted for the bill.

But this was not all. After the resumption act was passed, it was on trial four years before its final execution. During that period of doubt and suspense the Democratic party opposed it with the utmost violence. When I assumed the office of Secretary of the Treasury no step had been taken under it except to substitute silver coin for the fractional currency. It was an unexecuted mandate of the Republican party. That the preparations for resumption, the accumulation of coin and the advancement of the public credit were carefully, zealously and prudently accomplished, and that as a public officer, with the full approval of a Republican President, I fairly executed the law, was testified to by Mr. Belmont at the very meeting (of which he was presiding officer) that Mr. Bayard addressed. How did the Democratic party treat the execution of this law? From the first step toward its execution they opposed it with violence, proposed its repeal, adopted every expedient to thwart, to delay and to defeat it.

Mr. Sherman then gave the history of the Democratic bill to repeal the resumption act, showing that it was supported almost unanimously by the Democrats and opposed by the Republicans. In reference to the assertion that to Providence and not to the Republican party was due the success, he said that the country owes nothing to the Democratic party for either good crops, good money or good times.

WEAVER SPEAKS.

He Wants Greenbackers to Read Mr. Bayard's Speech.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 27.—The following is a circular letter addressed to the Greenbackers' Union by their candidate for President:

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 27.

To the Greenback Labor men throughout the United States:

I urgently request that you have struck of by thousands for circulation in each county full extracts from Mr. Bayard's New York speech, in which he says the Democratic party are in favor of his bill to destroy greenbacks and that they will carry out that policy. Publish the Bayard resolution with full extracts from his speech so that the people may know just what it is that the Democratic party and its candidates are pledged to carry out.

The issue is now fully made up. Let every Greenbacker in the Union arouse himself to the real situation and brand as an infamous traitor to our holy cause any man, without regard to his former standing in our party, who attempts to transfer our voters to either of the old parties.

(Signed) J. B. WEAVER.

THE TREASURY ROBBERY.

The Stolen Bonds Not the Property of Deceased Soldiers but of Bounty Jumpers.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The following letter has been written to Secretary Sherman by Second Auditor Ferris:

In reply to your oral inquiry of this morning I have the honor to report that in December last it was discovered that $4,740 in money and bonds including interest were missing from the safe of this office. A thorough investigation established the fact that the funds had been extracted by Charles F. Herring, deputy auditor, who died in 1879. There is no evidence that a single dollar of the missing funds belonged to deceased soldiers. On the contrary the bulk of it consisted of bonds taken from soldiers at the draft rendezvous in 1864 and 1865 as security against their desertion. The fact that the names of some of these soldiers cannot be found on the muster rolls on file in the office, and that no application had been made for bonds either by soldiers themselves or their representatives leads to the conclusion that the men were "bounty jumpers."

Chief Brooks, of the secret service, who is still investigating the case says that it is impossible to tell where the money went. He suspects however from evidence taken that Herring was in the hands of blackmailers and had been ever since he came to Washington from New England.

EUROPE.

The Murder of Lord Mountmorres.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—A Dublin dispatch gives the following particulars of the assassination of Lord Mountmorres:

Lord Mountmorres was murdered on Saturday night at Rusheen, within a mile of Clonbur, County Galway. The scene of the assassination was a neck of land between Lough Mask and Lough Corrib. The Viscount attended a meeting of the magistrates on Saturday afternoon at the Court House of Clonbur, and was seen to leave town about 8 o'clock. Half an hour afterward his horse and carriage arrived at his residence, a mile distant, without him. This aroused suspicion among his family. Search being made, he was found lying on the side of the road in a pool of blood, lifeless. The police were at once sent for and the body conveyed to Ebor Hall, the family seat. Mountmorres received one bullet in the head, penetrating the skull, three in the neck and two in the body, and any one of the wounds was sufficient to cause death. He was little known, except in his own neighborhood and throughout Mayo and Galway. He had fifteen tenants with whom he had most unhappy relations. Quite recently he obtained ejectment decrees against two of them. As a magistrate he was unpopular, and at the meeting of Justices which he had been attending a resoultion was passed calling upon the government to adopt coercive measures.

The Plot to Blow Up the Czar.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Information of a plot to blow up the yacht Livadia was received today from the authorities at St. Petersburg and afterwards from the police officials of Geneva. According to these advices the Nihilists had deputied emissaries to blow up the Livadia, and three individuals left London a few days ago for Glasgow with two nitro glycerine clocks to be placed among the coals, which would explode at a certain time. The coals on the yacht are now being removed for examination and divers are examining the vessel's bottom.

The Sultan Will Fight.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Yesterday the Prince of Montenegro received an official intimation from the Porte that an advance to Dulcigno would be regarded as a declaration of war. This must be regarded as tantamount to a declaration of war against Europe.

A Constantinople despatch says a spirit of reckless defiance is becoming more intense at the palace. For several days past the Sultan has refused to listen to any objections made by his ministers to the policy he has adopted, and he has issued an order that any official who shall be heard expressing a contrary opinion shall be dismissed and exiled. Never before or since the time of "Mohammed the Terrible" has such an order been issued.

Burning Barges on the Neva.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 27.—Fire broke out today among a large assembly of barges on the Neva above the bridges. The barges, which were laden with hay, broke loose and 20 enormous flaming masses floated down the stream endangering all the shipping in the river. There was, however, no further destruction of shipping.

Norwegians Want a Republic.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—A despatch from Copenhagen to the St. James Gazette says the Swedish and Norwegian press are heatedly discussing the agitation of a section of Norwegians for the repeal of the act of Union and the establishment of a Norwegian Republic. The Swedes, of course, maintain that the honor of Sweden is involved, and that strong measures should be employed if necessary. The relations between the King and the Norwegian Storthing are very strained, a large majority having denied the King's right of a final vote.

Excessive Loyalty of the Orangemen.

A meeting of 500 Orangemen in Gilford county has passed a resolution calling upon the government to suspend trial by jury in murder cases, and shooting down citizens of the United States and other foreigners abusing the hospitality of the country by denouncing the institutions of the United Kingdom should be expelled.

Execution of the Religious Decrees.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—A Paris dispatch to the Times says: Gambetta starts for Switzerland on Tuesday for a month's stay. M. Constans, Minister of the Interior, has gone to the provinces, after arranging for the enforcement of the religious decrees. He will return in a week to see what has been done. He has decided to leave the Tribunal of Conflicts to meet, as usual, in November. Its judgment whether the Jesuits dispersions are the act of the communities and beyond the cognizance of ordinary judges and amenable only to the Council of State, is looked for on the 25th of November. Meanwhile, Constans begins by breaking up the orders like the Passionist Fathers, which are not recognized by the Vatican. He will next disperse the communities that are mostly composed of foreigners, and will lastly commence proceedings against the orders not included in these two categories, dealing with them piecemeal and with a selection of the communities least likely to evoke local sympathy.

AFGHANISTAN.

The Ameer to Visit India.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—The Times dispatch from Simla says the Ameer of Afghanistan expresses his intention of visiting India as soon as possible. All is quiet at Cabul.

Effect of the Defeat of Ayoob Khan.

A dispatch to the Times from Candahar says two officers have been arrested in connection with the defeat of Gen. Burrows by Ayoob Khan. A dispatch from Simla says the defeat of Ayoob Khan caused the Ameer Abdurrahman Khan the greatest satisfaction, and has had a most quieting effect upon the country. Some days previous to the receipt of the news of the defeat a Sirdar circulated a report that Ayoob Khan had captured Gen. Roberts. For this the Ameer caused the Sidar to be flogged so severely that his life is in danger.

United States Circuit Court.

BEFORE JUDGE FOX.

MONDAY.—Petit jury empanneled as follows:

Samuel E. Payne of York, foreman; Thomas Fuller and Wilson S. Parmelee, Augusta; Samuel T. Edgecomb and Richard A. Gurney, Belfast. William Heinessy, Portland; Henry M. Colby William M. Blanchard, Rumford; Edwin S. Prescott, Skowhegan; Dexter Berkett and Jacob H. Studley Thomaston; Isaac W. Britton, Winslow.

Supernumeraries—Thurston C. Chamberlain, Winslow. Albert B. Preble, York.

United States by indictment vs. Louis Hammel. Retail liquor dealer; tax unpaid. Pleads guilty. Sentenced—$100 and 40 days in Portland jail.

United States by indictment vs. Alexander Bains. The defendant is charged with desertion from the American schooner I. S. & L. C. Adams, bound, according so the articles f agreement, "from the port of Philadelphia to Portland, Me., thence to some one or more ports east, if required by the master, and back to a western port of discharge, as the master may decide."

The defense makes two points; 1st, that the voyage is not sufficiently described; 2d, that the shipping articles were not signed in presence of a proper person, to wit: a United States Shipping Commissioner, the master, the owner or consignee.

The Court rules that the description was sufficient, and that this being a coasting voyage, it was not necessary that the articles should be signed before the above-named persons; but that, as the defendant admitted, that he did sign the articles and had subsequently deserted, he was thereby guilty of a violation of the law.

The jury, without leaving their seats, returned a verdict of guilty. The same verdict was also rendered, in two similar cases, against Theodore Eastman and Charles King. Sentences reserved.

Lunt, Att'y for Govt.
Charles E. Clifford for defts.

Supreme Judicial Court.

The following decisions have been received from the law court:

WALDO COUNTY.

Inhabitants of Belfast vs. W. H. Fogler, assignee.
Rescript by Virgin, J.—St. 1879, c. 154 § 15, requiring "city taxes to be paid in full" is applicable to an insolvent's estate in which no dividend has been made until after that statute took effect, although proceedings in insolvency were commenced prior to the enactment of the statute.
Judgment for the plaintiff for $98.56.

OXFORD COUNTY.

Samuel S. Jones vs. Isaac P. Emerson et als.
Rescript by Virgin, J.—To save the penalty of his bond by performing its last condition, a poor debtor must reasonably "deliver himself into the custody of the jailer" and be received into jail, or deliver himself to the jailer at the jail in such a manner as will make it the duty of the jailor to receive him into custody in the jail. To make it the duty of the jailer to receive a debtor, the latter should not only reasonably offer to deliver himself, but at the same time to deliver to the jailer a copy of the bond, or of the execution and return thereon, at the jail.
Motion and exceptions sustained.

Superior Court.

BEFORE JUDGE BONNEY.

MONDAY,—Luke Donahue was sentenced upon complaint for search and seizure to pay a fine of $50 or thirty days in jail; upon another he was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs, and in addition thereto to three months in jail. Committed.

The Court commenced the trial of civil cases without a jury.

Charles P. Mattocks, assignee, vs. Geo. H. Chadwick. Action upon a promissory note for $191, signed by the defendant and payable to George E. Ward. Defense—the statute of limitations. Decision for defendant.
Mattocks for plaintiff.
D. H. Drummond for defendant.

Isaac Berry vs. John Nix et als. The plaintiff, a provision dealer in this city, contracted with the defendants, produce dealers in New York, to buy potatoes in this state and divide the profit or loss The plaintiff was to purchase the potatoes, charging nothing for his labor, and the defendants were to sell them in New York, charging nothing for their time. Under this agreement the plaintiff claims that there is a balance of $118.04 still due him.

The defendant denies that there is anything due. The only dispute between the parties is as to the number of bushels of potatoes shipped in the last two cargoes. Decision reserved.
H. & W. J. Knowlton for plaintiff.
B. D. Verrill for defendant.

TURNER BROTHERS.

Successful Opening of Their New Store.

The public fairly invaded Messrs. Turner Brothers new store in the Kimball Block on Congress street, Saturday evening, and took it by storm. It is estimated that as many as 5000 people filled the street and sidewalks just before the doors were opened, and the appearance of the windows gave occasion for many expressions of surprise and delight. These immense plate glass windows were most artistically and beautifully dressed, the one with a very large wheel composed of brocades in various colors; the other with plaids, cloakings, laces, India shawls and richest, as well as suitings, all of the velvet material, and some of the cloaks valued at $150. These windows are lighted by a new style of gaselier, with pendents, only one store in Boston possessing similar gaseliers.

The store itself is 80x 29 feet in size, and stretches from Congress street to the lane in the rear from Brown street. The floor is prettily inlaid in birch and maple. The counters are very handsome, with cherry tops, and are provided with the patent bracket folding seats, upholstered in crimson plush, a novelty in Portland. The store proper is 60 feet in depth. The remaining 20 feet is taken up by the cloaking room, which is richly carpeted. Between the oval counter, which occupies the centre of the store, and the cloak-room, is stationed the cashier's desk, which stands at the head of the handsome flight of stairs that descends into the basement. The pillars about the apartment are beautifully decorated with wild flowers, grasses and cat o'ninetails, and the room is well lighted by day by four large windows and a skylight at the rear, and by night by six of the new style elegant gilt gaseliers, of four lights each, and one of nine lights at the entrance. Burnished rods extend around the store at the height of the extended arm, on which are displayed all styles of goods in harmonious colors.

On the left of the main entrance is the counter devoted to worsteds and kid gloves, of which one of the largest and most complete assortments in the city can be found. Next comes the show cases filled with all kinds of rich and varied neck-wear, trimmings, fringes and buttons, occupying the left hand side of the apartment. These show cases reflect the highest credit on the skill of Mr. C. H. Blake the well known cabinet maker, and are finished in rosewood of the nicest quality and highest polish. The left rear counter, off of the cloak room, is devoted to dress goods, of which full lines are kept in all the most fashionable patterns to be found in New York or Boston, varying in price from one to eight dollars a yard. On the rear counter will be found the silks, brocades and velvets, all of the costliest description and richest designs.

The cloaks and shawls, as we have already said, are superb, and some of the former magnificent in their costly and varied trimmings. The assortment of moderate priced cloakings is large and will commend itself to those who are not over-burdened with this world's goods.

On the right of the front entrance is the pattern counter, where a large business is done in Demorest patterns. The right side of the apartment is devoted to the household goods, of which there is a large and complete line. Here also can be found the prints in every variety.

The basement, 30x60, is used for a sale-room for blankets, quilts and cotton goods. In the rear is the boiler room, packing-room and modern conveniences.

Mr. H. Talbot, with his former clerk; will have charge of the fancy goods department, and Mr. Usher with Miss Etta Owen of the black goods and silks. Already thirteen clerks are employed by this firm.

The Maranocook Regatta.

Yesterday Riley and Weisberger arrived in the city and will participate in the grand regatta at Maranocook to-morrow. The race will be the finest that have ever been seen in Maine and will draw immense crowds from all parts of New England. In order that all may understand about the trains we repeat that on Wednesday trains will leave this city at 8 and 9 a. m., and will make the run to the lake in two hours. They will return at 4.30 and 6.40 and 7.15 p. m. After leaving Danville Junction the out trains will make no stops. Since the last race a mile of new sidings have been put up at the lake, so that three trains can be started at the same moment. This will avoid delays.

All the arrangements have been perfected for the race. Among the crews who probably arrived this morning are the crack crew of Lynn and the Faulkner crew of Boston, composed of Faulkner, Gookins Bros. and Mc Gahey. Riley arrived last evening and Weisberger is expected to-day. All the oarsmen will leave at 5 p. m. to-day for the Lake on a special train for the accommodation of them and their boats. Several left for the lake yesterday. A train will leave for the lake at 6 a. m. to-morrow for the accommodation of the caterer's help as well as the public generally. All the races will be so closely contested it has been found necessary to appoint four judges at the lower stake.

Derailed.

On Friday night as the freight train from Portland which arrives in Portsmouth at midnight was approaching that station, the rear car jumped the track just after leaving the end of Portsmouth bridge, fortunately going off on the side farthest from the highway, as otherwise it would have gone down the embankment and possibly have caused serious damage to the train. The derailed car was hauled along over the sleepers for a considerable distance, finally stopping close to the Noble's Island bridge. The delay was slight. On Saturday forenoon at about 9 o'clock the shifting engine of the Eastern road ran off the track on Noble's Island, owing to a misplaced switch; no harm was done.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA.

THE CARY CONCERT.

It is pleasant to see the pride Maine people take in Miss Cary as evidenced by the magnificent reception they always accord her when she sings at home. We say Maine people because the audiences that listen to her are not confined to Portland citizens alone; the towns within a radius of fifty and sixty miles all send their quota to do honor to a vocalist who has added another to the names famous in the history of song. Last night was no exception to the rule and City Hall was packed in every part. When Miss Cary came forward it was some minutes before she was allowed to proceed with her opening aria, and after her last number—the selection from Donizetti—the applause arose to a tempest and the impression was distinctly conveyed that the audience could not bear to part with her.

The favorite prima donna never appeared to better advantage. Her noble contralto seemed to have derived great benefit from the lady's long vacation and to be as full, round and charming as ever before. In the selection from Gluck's "Alcestis" the superb sustaining power she possesses was never shown more effectively, if we except the "Lost Chord." She took a flat, in her lower register, with a strength and delicacy combined, that was most marked. All the poesy and dramatic fervor that characterize this composition of the great musician—for Glück considered music intended as an aid to poetry; to give greater effect by a noble simplicity of style—met with the fullest treatment from her, and there was a pathos running through it all that appealed to the heart. In response she favored her audience with the pretty song by Claribel, "Jeannette's Choice." In the number from Donizetti she found opportunity for all that vocal embellishment which she is so able to display, and in the Rossini duet with Mr. Tower she added still another to the laurels of the evening. Probably, however, it was reserved for her "Home, Sweet Home" to really stir her audience as a whole, from the most cultivated musician to the mere lover of melody. And she sang it grandly, so grandly in fact, that even old professionals, not easily excited, applauded vigorously. Miss Cary's costume was a matter for general remark among the ladies, a superb robe of white Satin de Lyons, with an overdress of white Spanish lace trimmed with frost-fringe producing a most delicate and exquisite effect. Her ornaments were diamonds.

Miss Franklin is a pupil of Lagrange & Randegger, and made her debut a short time ago in New York under the auspices of the Philharmonic Society, Theodore Thomas conductor. She is the soprano of the Kirk street church, Lowell, and of the Temple Quartette. She also, is a Maine girl, we believe, a native of Fryeburg. Last evening she appeared in two numbers, Rode's celebrated air and Cowen's "It was a Dream." Her voice is a very pleasant light soprano, of good quality, pure, flexible, and displaying a good method. Her execution of the difficult runs and trills of the Rode air was rewarded by an encore, to which she responded with "'Twas within a mile of Edinboro' town," and was presented with a bouquet.

The Temple Quartette have gained, if that were possible, a greater finish than ever before. We doubt if there is a quartette of male singers now on the concert stage, that, in the quality of voices and perfection of drill, can equal, still less surpass them. Mr. Towers' voice is, especially, a revelation. It has grown every way, and is a tenor of rare beauty and power and style. The ringing, martial aria, "Sound an alarm," from Handel's "Judas Maccabeus," was superbly given. The trumpet air sounded, from his lips, like a trumpet call indeed. His tones are rich and full, his expression good and his enunciation clear and distinct. The expressive qualities of his voice were particularly shown in the beautiful solo in Krugh's "Drum March." He was honored with an emphatic recall. The club gave all their numbers so well that it seems invidious to choose any special selection for praise, but we must commend in the most decided manner the superb rendering of the two quartettes, a. Beethoven's "Recordare," and b. Rhodes' "Arise! Shine!" For encores they gave an odd part song, "Three huntsmen went through a wood," a pretty dance measure, "Come, come, the midnight air," and "Beware."

With the assistance of Miss Franklin and Miss Holmes the quartette gave a sextette from Lucia with great expression, the quintette "When winds breathe soft," with much delicacy and taste, and the glee "Hark! how the birds," with animation and expression.

Mr. Kotzschmar's accompaniments were all that could be desired.

MY PARTNER.

On Friday night Mr. Bartley Campbell's play "My Partner," will be produced for the first time in this city at the New Portland Theatre. The following appreciative estimate of its merits, from the pen of the critic of the Chicago Tribune, will be read with much interest:

"The scope of the play, the mode of its treatment, the constructive skill, the clearly drawn and well contrasted characters exhibited in 'My Partner' have never before been equaled by its author. The story, said to be of the dramatist's own invention, is exceedingly simple in form, but very ingeniously treated so as to afford great diversity of situation, and every situation possesses a strong hold upon the sympathies of an audience. It is a purely American play. Unlike some others that have preceded 'My Partner,' whose stories have been laid in the Far West, it is less idyllic than realistic. It represents types of pioneer life rather than love passages among the forests and mountains of the Sierras, and these types of pioneer life, skillfully handled, have been lifted from the vulgarity of actuality into which so many writers plunge, who attempt to handle similar types and incidents laid in similar scenes. The author has endeavored, and has succeeded, in throwing around the play a certain poetic glamour which elicits only admiration for his art. His characters are kept constantly in action, and neither the eye nor the ear grow weary. There is a strong and a bright vein of comedy running through the entire play, which happily relieves the sombre incidents. The lines sometimes sparkle with wit, at others glow with a sentiment that is pleasant and wholesome, but all is terse, natural and ever in keeping with the exigencies of the situation, and fitted to the characters from whose lips they proceed. And the play affords admirable scope for acting."

Tickets will be ready tomorrow at the box office.

NOTES.

The management of the Emma Abbott opera company announce a production of the recent Offenbachian success, "La Fille du Tambour Major," in English during the present season.

It is said that a tenor with marvellous voice has been discovered by M. Vaucorbell, director of the Paris Opera. All that is known of this rare bird is that he was a railroad employe.

It appears that Miss Minnie Hauk will not come to America the coming season, engagements of this artist being announced in various continental cities during the winter months.

Following are the members of the company engaged to appear at the Park Theatre, New York, in Mr. Percy's new play, "A Baffled Beauty": Rose Eytinge, Ellie Milton, Jose Baker, Gabriel Du Sauld, Emily Fisher, Mark Pendleton, Barton Hill, Harry Courtaine, Jos. Grismer, T. F. Brennaud, J. Sanville, J. Cleary and L. G. Eastman.

Personal.

Hon. John Lynch is town.

Mr. A. G. Nickolds, of Brooklyn, N. Y., of the "Pirates of Penzance," sang a tenor solo at the First Parish church Sunday evening. Mr. Benjamin I. Hughes, basso, of New York, of the same troupe, sang a baritone solo.

Hon. Horatio King is at the Chadwick House.

Misses Franklin and Holmes and the members of the Temple Glee Club were stopping at the Falmouth last night.

THE STEERS WIN.

[Lewiston Journal.]

The letter of C. S. Conant, Esq., of this city, to Solon Chase, threatening to depose him from the editorial chair of the Enquirer, and Chase's reply, published on Saturday, threw the greenback camp into consternation. The fact seems to be that Conant wrote the letter without any authority from the directors or stockholders of the association that owns the paper, thinking to bulldoze Solon into the fusion harness. Mr. Conant didn't think that Solon would publish the letter, or such a reply, and when the correspondence appeared in the columns of the daily papers, Saturday, Mr. Conant found that he had put his foot in it.

The association which owns the Enquirer is known as the Androscoggin Publishing Association. It was incorporated last winter with a nominal capital of $50,000. Its directors are Col. C. S. Emerson of Auburn, Gen. Phillips Bradford of Turner, Mr. McIntyre of Peru, Mr. Waite of Buckfield and James Nash of Lewiston. Col. Emerson is president of the board, C. S. Conant, Esq., of this city, is secretary, and B. A. Bradford of Auburn, treasurer. Mr. Conant found himself confronted on Saturday, by a lot of angry directors and stockholders, who demanded to know on what authority he wrote the letter. The result was a hasty meeting at Solon Chase's house at Chase's Mills, Saturday evening.

Since the convention at Portland great pressure had been brought to bear on Solon, to induce him to keep quiet, and the threatening tone of Conant's letter was more than he could stand. Only last Thursday, General Plaisted and F. W. Hill of Exeter, pursued Solon from the Elm House, and tried to wheel him into line. The General and Hill arrived in Auburn just fifteen minutes after Solon's black mare had started on the road to Turner. Being informed where Solon had gone, Gen. Plaisted engaged a team at the Elm House and started at once on the pursuit. They succeeded in finding him, but were unable to effect anything.

A Journal reporter called on Col. Emerson, the president of the association, Monday morning, and from the Colonel learned what transpired at the meeting.

"Conant wrote that letter," said Colonel Emerson, "without any authority from the Board of Directors of the Association, or anybody else. When he came home from Portland, he probably talked with a few stockholders, who were dissatisfied with Solon's strong language and actions at the convention, and wrote the letter on his own responsibility. It was a bad move on his part. He had no right to threaten that if Solon didn't endorse fusion, the majority of the stockholders would demand a change of editor before another issue of the Enquirer. None of the directors ever heard of any such talk."

"How has the Enquirer flourished under Solon's management?"

"First-rate. It has a circulation of 4,000 which is increasing all the time."

"Had there been any talk of making any change in the editorial department?"

"Not a word. I got together a few stockholders and the directors and took Conant, and went up to Turner, Saturday night. We talked it all over with Solon, and told him just how it was."

"What did Conant say?"

"Oh! Conant flattened right out! He said he wrote the letter on his own responsibility. You see the last part of his letter was really threatening. And he acknowledged it. He owned up that he had no business to have written it."

"What did Solon say?"

"We told Solon we wanted him to keep right on. He said he wanted to think it over. He wanted us to let him have till Monday 'to chaw on it,' he said, and then he'd tell us what he would do, and what he wouldn't do. We agreed to this, and he's coming down here to-day. We're going to hold a meeting in Wm. M. Ham's office. I believe Solon is right, in his position."

Our reporter talked with several other leading Greenbackers in Auburn. They all professed to be greatly astonished at Mr. Conant's letter, and said it was written without the authority or sanction of the stockholders or officers of the association.

(By Telegraph.)

LEWISTON, Sept. 27.—At a conference between Solon Chase and the Greenback Publishing Company Mr. Chase declared that he would stand by his previous declarations. He was seconded by J. F. Turner of the Portland New Era Company. The meeting put Solon again in charge of the paper with an injunction not to hurt his friends. After a suspension of one week the Inquirer will probably resume under Solon's management. A large number of Greenback politicians were present

Obituary.

Died.—In Yarmouth, Sept. 21st., Susan Magoon, wife of L. L. Shaw, aged 55 years and 17 days.

Mrs. Shaw has been in very poor health for three or four years, and for a short time before her death was a great sufferer. She bore her cross of pain in that spirit of patience that marks the Christian, sustained by a strength that is more than human. She was a kind and good woman, beloved and respected by all who knew her. Before her health failed her the measure of her usefulness was filled, and well filled. As a wife and a mother in her earthly home, she was faithful, and made that home rich by her love and care. She has finished her work on earth, and in the strength of her heavenly Father's love she has journeyed upward from earth to the companionship of heaven. She leaves a husband and daughter and many friends who deeply mourn her death.

"Blessed are they that mourn for they shall be comforted."

I long for household voices gone,
For vanished smiles I long;
But God hath led my dear ones on
And He can do no harm.

I know not where His islands lift,
Their proudest palms in air;
I only know I cannot drift
Beyond His love and care.

Another Candidate.

By a large majority the people of the United States have declared their faith in Kidney-Wort as a remedy for all the diseases of the kidneys and liver, some, however, have disliked the trouble of preparing it from the dry form. For such a new candidate appears in the shape of Kidney-wort in Liquid Form. It is very concentrated, is easily taken and is equally efficient as the dry. Try it. Louisville Post.

"Ma, has aunty got bees in her month?" "No, my dear. Why do you ask?" "Cause Capt. Deane said he was going to taste the honey from her lips, and she said, 'Well, make haste.'"

While on the Peninsula, during the war, an officer one day came across a private soldier belonging to one of the most predatory companies of the Irish brigade. The fellow had the lifeless bodies of a goose and hen tied together by the heels, dangling from his musket. "Where did you steal those, you rascal" the officer demanded. "Steal, is it? Faith, I was marching along with Color Sargeant Maguire, and the goose—bad cess to it—came out and hissed at the American flag, and bedad I shot it on the spot." "But the hen, sir? how about the hen?" "It's the hin, is it? Bad luck to the hin! I caught her laying eggs for the rebel army, and as a Federal soldier I couldn't stand that anyhow and I give her a lick that stopped that act of treason!"

For You, Madam,

Whose complexion betrays some humiliating imperfection, whose mirror tells you that you are Tanned, Sallow and disfigured in countenance, or have Eruptions, Redness, Roughness or unwholesome tints of complexion, we say use Hagan's Magnolia Balm.

It is a delicate, harmless and delightful article, producing the most natural and entrancing tints, the artificiality of which no observer can detect, and which soon becomes permanent if the Magnolia Balm is judiciously used.
